Buddy Box Instructions

The Buddy Box allows for the use of two RV's to plug into a single 240V/50A RV receptacle. It is important to note that a 50A RV receptacle actually supplies 100A of service; 50A per line. You can verify this by noting the circuit breaker that controls the 50A receptacle. You will notice a double pole 50A circuit breaker, supplying 120V/50A per line.

The Buddy Box splits each line to a separate RV, with a maximum current of 50A per RV, as opposed to 100A to a single RV. If an RV only requires 30A service, simply use an adapter from 30A to 50A. Do not be alarmed by the 50A service, as a 30A RV only uses a 30A circuit breaker, thus never exceeding 30A.

To install:

- 1) Make sure the 50A RV receptacle is properly wired.
- 2) Plug the Buddy Box into the receptacle.
- 3) Plug both RV's into the Buddy Box.

Note: If the RV's that are plugged into the Buddy Box require 50A service (actually 100A), they are limited to 50A MAX per Buddy Box receptacle.
